

2nd International Conference on Transport and Health (ICTH 2016-USA)

This online-only supplement relates to the 2nd International Conference on Transport and Health – ICTH 2016-USA. The first article is about MINETA, the organisation hosting the 2016 conference in San Jose, California (Philbrick, 2016). This is followed by the abstracts from all the oral presentations (traditional and Pecha Kucha formats) and poster presentations at the conferences, in the order they appear in the programme. All abstracts were assessed anonymously by at least three reviewers, none being from any of the institutions represented by the list of co-authors. With an increase not only in cross-disciplinary work but also cross-institutional work, this posed an increasing challenge to the organisers. Karyn Warsow of TPH-Link (Warsow, 2015) and her team are to be congratulated on organising every aspect of the conference.

As with last year's inaugural conference (Mindell, 2015) any manuscript submitted to the Journal of Transport and Health that is based on work presented at ICTH will be handled as for any other submission. If accepted, it will be published both in a printed issue of the journal but will also be available in a 'virtual' special issue.

We should like to congratulate the abstract prize-winners at ICTH 2016-USA. Prizes were awarded to the two highest scoring abstracts in each of five categories:

- Practitioners: Iyad Kheirbek (A83) and Eamon Flynn (A03)
- Researchers: Christina Batteate (A01) and Neil Maizlish (A51)
- Early Career/Post Doctoral researchers: Kara MacLeod (A13) and Marko Tainio (A82)
- Doctoral students: Jessica Murray (A48) and Belen Zapata-Diomedes (A67)
- Masters/Undergraduate students: Richard Lee (P24) and Gabriela Picado (A57)

Dr Jennifer Mindell

Editor-in-chief

References

Mindell JS (2015). 1st International Conference on Transport and Health (ICTH 2015). Journal of Transport and Health. Vol 2, issue 2 supplement, p S1.

Philbrick K (2016). Mineta Transportation Institute: Creating Transportation Policy for People. Journal of Transport and Health. Vol 3, issue 2 supplement. In this issue.

Warsow K (2015). Transportation public health link: Changing perspectives...Changing a culture through cross-disciplinary collaboration. Journal of Transport and Health. Vol 2, issue 2 supplement, pp S2-S4.