

Authors' biographical details

Ann Hodgson is Faculty Director of Research, Consultancy and Knowledge Transfer at the Institute of Education, University of London. She is co-director of the Nuffield Review of 14-19 Education and was co-director of the ESRC Teaching and Learning Research Programme (TLRP) Project, The Impact of Policy on Learning and Inclusion in the Learning and Skills Sector. She researches and publishes on education policy, curriculum and qualifications reform and lifelong learning.

Ken Spours is Head of the Department of Professional and Continuing Education at the Institute of Education, University of London. He is co-director of the Nuffield Review of 14-19 Education and was co-director of the above ESRC TLRP Project. He researches and publishes on 14-19 curriculum and qualifications, further education and system governance.

Richard Steer, who was one of the Research Officers on the ESRC TLRP Project, is currently working as a Policy Researcher at City College Norwich. His main interests lie in post-compulsory education and training policies, governance and social inclusion.